

Eight Places To Go For Root Beer Float Day in Seattle

Not your average root beer float: Hearth in Kirkland finishes off their fizzy concoction with toasted meringue. HEARTH VIA INSTAGRAM

Is there a more alchemical concoction on earth than the root beer float? Simultaneously creamy, frothy, and fizzy, it's much more than the sum of its parts. Today, August 6, is Root Beer Float Day, so we've compiled eight places to slurp unique versions of the foamy, bubbly beverage through a straw—and some are discounted or free! For more ideas, check out our food and drink calendar.

Hearth

The Heathman Hotel's recently opened farm-to-table restaurant makes their root beer float with vanilla malt ice cream and Crater Lake Root Beer and finishes it all off with toasted meringue for a special touch.

Kirkland